

The days just disappear. We ask each morning “What is our schedule for today”. Yesterday seemed like a light day until it didn’t. Our first class was to be at three o’clock so I set about doing some catch up on some work that really needed to be done but had been put on the back burner. I started and things seemed to be going well with very little interruption. When all of the sudden Valentina appeared and said it was time for class. I had completely lost track of time. So we ran upstairs and taught two classes then that the evening Bible study for the congregation. Ava also had three classes yesterday with younger children one morning class and two afternoon classes. The public

Construction next to the Church building

I’m sure this is OSHA compliant, right?

school system is on their fall break right now. It seems that there has been a spike in the COVIN19 cases and so they went to fall break early. It has not affected the ABC school schedule with the exception that families are not on their regular schedule right now. So attendance is down from normal but we are still having students every day.

Following our Thursday night Bible class we came down Stairs to get some supper we were joined by Vlad, Oksana, Rita, Dema, Kate, Rosa and Marina. So with Ava and I we had nine. Oksana had cooked some soup late in the afternoon so we had plenty. The ladies just sliced some bread to go with it and everyone ate their fill.

In His Service
Scott & Ava

24 Hour Market across the street that we use every day.

Little Bread Shop